Prompt: Scientific dilemmas today occur on a global stage and require international cooperation. Please choose one pressing scientific issue and explain: the problem as it exists today, the point it can reach before action must be taken, some potential courses of action to combat the problem, and the global implications of solving or avoiding the issue.

Topic suggestions include, but are not limited to: alternative energy sources, global climate change, increased rate of species extinction, and development of extreme weather conditions.

For the student participant:

Name:
Grade:
School/ School address:
City: State: Zip:
School phone number:
Supervising teacher:
Home address:
City: State: Zip:
Home phone number:
Student Email:
Teacher Email:

Title of the submitted Article: ____________________________________________________________

By signing, I affirm that my essay is my own work; it reflects my research, writing and original thinking. I understand that I retain all rights to my original work, with the exception that I grant the Journal the exclusive right to publish the articles in print and online. Articles may not be reproduced elsewhere without the permission of the Journal. I agree to give the DUJS the exclusive right to print this article:

Signature: _______________________________ Date: ____________________

Note: The Dartmouth Undergraduate Journal of Science is copyrighted, and articles cannot be reproduced without the permission of the journal.
For the sponsoring teacher:

By signing, I affirm that I have read the enclosed essay and verify that it reflects the above-named student's original work. I permit this article to be published in the Dartmouth Undergraduate Journal of Science:

Signature: ____________________________ Date: ________________

Please answer the following questions about the article in question.

Please comment on the quality of the essay presented:

Please comment on your overall opinion of the article (check one):

☐ I strongly endorse the article for publication

☐ I endorse the article for publication

☐ I do not endorse the article for publication

For the student’s legal guardian (If contestant is under the age of 18):

Name:

Relation to Student:

Address:

Phone Number:

By signing, I affirm that I have read the contest rules and eligibility requirements and that I give my child full permission to enter the DUJS International Science Essay Competition (ISEC). I understand that my child retain all rights to his or her original work, with the exception that he/she grants the Journal the exclusive right to publish the articles in print and online. Articles may not be reproduced elsewhere without the permission of the Journal. I agree to permit my child to participate and give DUJS the exclusive right to print my child’s article:

Signature: ____________________________ Date: ________________